Dear W.C.

I live on Social Security and I just make it from month to month. I do everything I possibly can to survive. I do not have a nickel leftover to do any home repairs. My home seems to be falling apart around me. I was wondering if I could get some help with home repairs. There are holes in my window frame and I've been trying to put plastic up to clog the holes. I can still feel the cold air pouring in. I not only can't keep my home warm, I can't afford my heating bills. At this rate I will not be able to keep a roof over my head for long.

A Struggling Senior

Dear Readers:

I received this letter years ago. We were offering assistance in many ways but I was never able to provide any type of construction work/home repairs due to the overwhelming amount of funds needed to accomplish them. As we all know any type of home repairs can be very expensive. I always had to offer assistance in other areas.

Then over a year ago I was invited by Jean and Kent Kruzan, and Ron Amann to speak about poverty to a wonderful group, The Lakeland Builders Association. I was amazed at how intently the very large group listened as I talked about the pains of poverty. Afterwards, one member after another kept approaching and offering their specialized services. It was almost impossible to fully express my gratitude. When I got to my car I cried, thanking the Lord for introducing me to these wonderful individuals who had the skills to help the many poverty stricken living in homes that were in desperate need of repairs.

Since then this same remarkable group has founded "Builders Help". They always come to the calling for much needed repairs. I had the honor to be invited to one of their general meetings to hear about the good they have been doing. They once again allowed me to share with them the overwhelming stories of poverty we struggle to assist every day. I also shared my gratitude for all of them and the wonderful service they are offering. It is with much pride that I call all of these wonderful people my neighbors. True neighbors giving back, even in their very hard economic times in the building trade, these individuals and their companies look forward to helping with enthusiasm and a true desire to give back.

It is organizations of God-loving people like this and others who truly make our communities a wonderful place to live. I pray for the same camaraderie all over the world. I am filled with gratitude for all those helping to ease the pains of poverty.

Health and Happiness, God Bless Everyone, WC
